CABINET FEATURES

MDF vs Wood Doors

Medium Density Fiberboard (MDF)

PROS and CONS

- It's a pre-consumer recycled material, i.e. "green".
- Unlike wood, it generally does not warp or crack
- It has a better water resistance
- It stands up better to changes in heat and humidity than wood
- The doors are 2 part construction not 5 so they tend to be more stable –no cracks in the joints.
- MDF finishes can be wiped clean with a damp cloth
- Available in larger sizes than solid wood
- MDF is often less expensive than solid wood
- MDF cabinets weigh more than real wood cabinets.
- You can really only use them for painted doors you can't get the beauty of stained wood.
